Love of Travel

Travel is a wonderfully romantic experience. It has the ability to bring two people together, create shared sensations, learn more about each other, and make memories that will be treasured forever.

Valentine's Day is the perfect time to treat your partner to a special trip. Of course, when you're travelling as a couple, the company is more important than the destination. But there are some iconic attractions that simply ooze romance and are guaranteed to fan the flames of love!

This February, take your loved one on the adventure of a lifetime, with WebBeds' guide to the best romantic attractions...

Taj Mahal, Agra

In the 17th Century, the Mughal emperor Shah Jahan mourned the death of his beloved wife, Mumtaz Mahal. To celebrate her memory and house her tomb, he ordered a pure white marble mausoleum to be built in the Indian city of Agra. The Taj Mahal was born, and it has stood as an enduring monument to love ever since. Today, this UNESCO World Heritage site is one of the world's most popular attractions. Couples are advised to visit at sunrise, which not only helps to avoid the crowds and the daytime heat, but also offers beautiful photo opportunities.

WHERE TO STAY

Tajview, Agra

Nestled in lush landscaped gardens, Tajview, Agra is a tranquil retreat with spectacular views of the Taj Mahal, 3km away. There are 99 rooms and suites in total, almost a third of which overlook the iconic monument. When couples are not exploring the wonders of Agra, they can enjoy a serene spa treatment or savour exquisite cuisine at a choice of restaurants. These include the Sky Deck, which offers breath-taking views.

Casa de Giulietta, Verona

Romeo and Juliet is the most romantic story ever told. Since it was first penned by William Shakespeare in the 16th Century, this enduring tale has been retold and reinvented countless times through the ages. The most iconic scene centres on a balcony in Verona, from which Juliet utters the immortal line: "O Romeo, Romeo! Wherefore art thou, Romeo?" Of course, Romeo and Juliet was a fictional tale, but the balcony is real and has become a magnet for star-crossed lovers. The historic city of Verona is also a charming place to stroll and soak up the alluring ambience.

Il Sogno di Giulietta

For guests who want to immerse themselves in Shakespearean romance, Il Sogno di Giulietta ("Juliet's Dream") is a charming boutique hotel nestled in the courtyard of the Capulets' historic home in Verona. Couples can create their own love story in this enchanting atmosphere, overlooking the famous balcony. There are just 16 rooms, all of which are adorned in a classical European style, with period furnishing and original artworks. Breakfast is served in the privacy of the room.

Kodaiji Temple, Kyoto

Is there any city in the world more romantic than Kyoto? This exquisite Japanese destination simply exudes old-world charm, with endless opportunities for couples to connect with each other while exploring the city's cultural treasures. One must-visit attraction is Kodaiji, which was built in the early 17th Century by Nene, the wife of Toyotomi Hideyoshi, to celebrate her husband's life and memory. Nestled in beautiful landscaped gardens and bamboo groves, this exquisite complex includes a temple, a mausoleum for Hideyoshi and Nene, two tea houses and a small museum.

Solaria Nishitetsu Hotel Kyoto Premier

Perfectly positioned on the banks of the Kamogawa River, within easy reach of Kyoto's many UNESCO World Heritage sites, Solaria Nishitetsu Hotel Kyoto Premier is a great base from which to explore the city. Guests can stay in a choice of contemporary rooms and suites, savour French cuisine at the restaurant, unwind in the outdoor bath, or take a peaceful walk through the hotel's beautiful Japanese garden, which were designed by the celebrated landscape architect Kazuyuki Ishihara.

5 Exciting Trips To Take This Leap Year

How many times do you find yourself wishing that you had more time? An extra day would make so much difference; giving you the chance to finish that important project, catch up with those TV shows or movies you haven't watched, or do all those little jobs around the house that you never seem to get around to. Or maybe, just maybe, you could use that extra day to travel somewhere new and exciting.

The good news is that this year, you will have that chance! 2020 is a leap year, which means there are 366 days rather than 365. So how will you spend your extra day? Whatever kind of traveller you are, WebBeds has the perfect suggestion...

CHIANG MAI, THAILAND

HOW TO SPEND YOUR EXTRA DAY

Cities aren't usually the preferred places for active travellers, but Seoul is different: it has a mountain right in the middle of it! If you have an extra day in the South Korean capital, why not climb to the peak of Mount Namsan? The walk itself isn't too challenging – it's only 262 metres high and can be completed in less than an hour. But the views from the top are spectacular, and it beats shopping.

SINGAPORE

Do you eat to live or live to eat? If you're a gourmand, you plan your life around food! Every holiday is an opportunity to try exotic and exciting flavours, dine at famous restaurants or simply tour the markets looking for interesting ingredients. # UBUD, BALI

Perfect for: Rejuvenators

As a rejuvenator, you love nothing more than escaping the stress and strain of daily life and dedicating time to yourself. You love to get away from it all, so you tend to take several short breaks rather than one long vacation. You like to step off the tourism trail and go your own way.

HOW TO SPEND YOUR EXTRA DAY

Ubud is a wonderful destination where rejuvenators can do as much or as little as they choose. Artistic and spiritual, this is a place where you can enjoy some much-needed "me time". That could mean soothing your senses in a spa with a traditional Balinese massage, losing yourself in the Monkey Forest, strolling through the town's many art galleries, or visiting a traditional temple. The opportunities for self-discovery are almost unlimited in Ubud.

WHERE TO STAY

Hanging Gardens of Bali

Nestled in the heart of the jungle, the Hanging Gardens of Bali is a truly spectacular setting for rejuvenation. Simply sublime.

YANGON, MYANMAR

Perfect for: History Buffs

History buffs believe that travel should expand the mind. Your trips are based on sightseeing at important ancient sites, but simply snapping photos is not enough – you want to gain a deep understanding of the culture and heritage of the destination.

★ HOW TO SPEND YOUR EXTRA DAY

Yangon is a captivating city where historical wonders and treasures await around every corner. But one landmark stands out above the others: the Shwedagon Pagoda. Rising 99 metres high and covered in gold, it is a breathtaking sight. It is also believed to be the oldest Buddhist stupa in the world, dating back more than 2,600 years, which makes it a must-visit attraction for history buffs. Spend the rest of your extra day exploring Yangon's rich colonial architecture.

And of course, there are plenty of cool cafés, trendy bars, refined restaurants and green spaces to enjoy. Whatever you're seeking, KL is a great place to spend 72 hours...

DAY ONE

LIVE THE HIGH LIFE

The Golden Triangle is KL's commercial, shopping and entertainment hub – a glittering downtown district that bustles with life, day and night. Shop at high-end malls, marvel at magnificent skyscrapers, stay at five-star hotels, and dine in style at alfresco restaurants and bars.

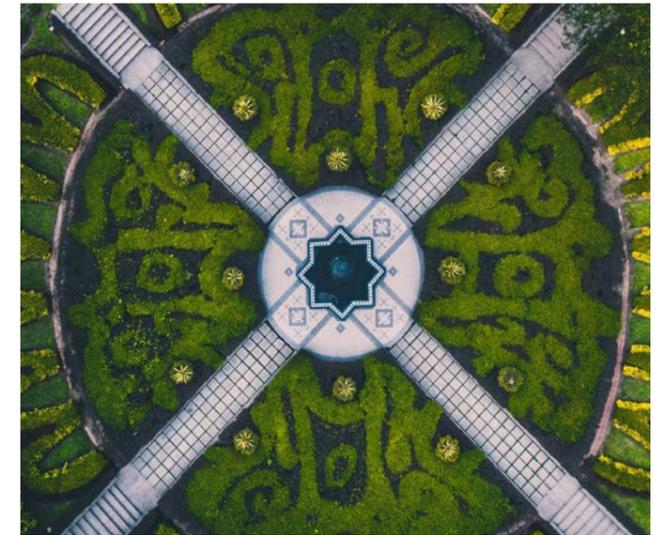

Kuala Lumpur City Centre (KLCC) is the state-of-the-art heart of the city. This is the place where the twin Petronas Towers soar 451.9 metres into the sky – a stunning symbol of modern Malaysia. Guests can head up to the famous skybridge for fantastic views of the city. These towers are surrounded by a wealth of other attractions, including the Suria KLCC shopping mall, KLCC Park and a world-class aquarium. A short distance away, the 421-metre-high KL Tower is another dramatic landmark with a spectacular observation deck.

RELAX WITH NATURE

KL is a wonderfully green city, with plenty of opportunities to escape the hustle and bustle and return to nature. Nestled close to the city centre, the Lake Gardens cover over 91 hectares and contain a wealth of natural attractions. These include a butterfly park, bird park and a botanical garden, which includes an enchanting collection of orchids. Alternatively, visitors can simply stroll past the lakes and gardens and enjoy a picnic on the lawn. Simply delightful.

TREAT YOURSELF

Bukit Bintang is perhaps KL's most famous thoroughfare; the Avenue des Champs-Élysées of the Malaysian capital. This lively area offers an array of attractions for guests, especially for those seeking retail therapy. Shop at premium malls like Pavilion Kuala Lumpur, Starhill Gallery, and Berjaya Times Square, then head to a cocktail bar or a refined restaurant for world-class cuisine. Alternatively, nearby Jalan Alor is a popular spot for meat skewers or seafood and roving live music. Whatever you're looking for, Bukit Bintang has it all!

DAY TWO

BRAVE A CLIMB IN A CAVE

Take a daytrip to the Batu Caves - an amazing attraction that combines dramatic natural and manmade wonders. In a breath-taking amphitheatre of limestone cliffs lies one of Malaysia's most precious Hindu sites. Guests can gaze in awe at a 43-metre-high golden statue of Lord Murugan, before climbing the 272 steps up through the rocks to the temple cave. Whatever your faith, this is a truly amazing attraction that is well worth the 40-minute train ride from KL Sentral.

BE TAKEN ON A VOYAGE OF WELLNESS

Visitors who fancy a break from shopping and sightseeing can soothe their senses at the Swasana Spa, the award-winning wellness centre at the Impiana KLCC Hotel. Located in the heart of the Golden Triangle, this is one of the city's best luxury spas. Guests can discover a choice of Asian treatments, including Balinese, Thai and Malay massages, along with body scrubs, wraps, facials and more. Both singles' and couples' treatment rooms are also available.

No trip to KL would be complete without sampling the city's famous banana leaf rice. Imported from southern India, this popular lunch combines rice, curry, pickles, vegetables and other elements, all presented on a banana leaf. There are plenty of places in KL to sample this spicy specialty, from traditional shophouses to high-end eateries. Simply search out the places that look popular with locals and you can't go far wrong!

The adjacent annex features a museum, gallery and studios, while local eateries specialise in traditional dishes like nasi lemak, mee goreng and satay.

GET A BARGAIN

Malaysia has a rich Chinese heritage, so KL's Chinatown is a fantastic place to soak up this vibrant culture. Visitors can also explore beautifully-preserved Buddhist temples, coffee houses and art galleries, and the area's food stalls are full of Sino-Malaysian delicacies.

Kickstart Your Spring with Superfoods

Have you already broken your New Year's resolution? Don't worry, research shows that a quarter of people give up after just one week, and fewer than one in ten last until the end of the year.

But perhaps we're doing it all wrong; instead of making resolutions in January, why not start afresh in spring instead? Spring is a wonderful time of year, when the world wakes up from its winter slumber and blossoms with renewed vitality. It's also a great time to discover a fresh crop of organic fruits and vegetables – including superfoods.

Food is fuel for the body, so any health kick must start with a good diet. Incorporating superfoods into your diet is the first step towards improving your lifestyle. Check out WebBeds' guide to the five best foods to kickstart your resolution this spring...

AVOCADOS

Avocados are almost the perfect superfood. These pear-shaped fruits have a rich and creamy texture that feels indulgent, when in fact they are highly nutritious and contain nearly 20 vitamins and minerals. They can improve digestion, maintain healthy cholesterol levels, aid eyesight, and even help the body fight against cancer.

In season almost all year round, avocados are also very versatile. They can be served hot or cold and can even be blended in a smoothie. Avocados also work wonderfully with other healthy ingredients such as smoked salmon, poached eggs or chili.

Must-try dish: Traditional Mexican guacamole

Simply blitz ripe avocados with lime juice, chili, tomato, coriander and a pinch of salt for a delicious dip.

ROCKET

This peppery salad leaf really packs a punch! Not only is it full of flavour, it contains many nutrients including Vitamins A and C and high levels of beneficial nitrates, which can help to lower blood pressure. Also known as arugula or rucola, rocket is a member of the same family as famously healthy veggies such as broccoli and kale.

In season in spring, rocket is a great alternative to bland lettuce leaves when making a salad. It also livens up sandwiches, can be scattered on top of pizzas, mixed into pasta dishes, or served with any dish as a fresh and exciting side salad.

Must-try dish: Rocket, feta and beetroot salad

Layer up your rocket with sweet beetroot and creamy feta cheese, then dress with olive oil and balsamic vinegar.

CHAMOMILE

Chamomile is a fragrant floral ingredient with a rich history. References to the medicinal benefits of these delicate daisy-like flowers can be traced back to ancient Egypt, where they were used to treat fever. Chamomile is now believed to help diabetes, aid sleep and relaxation, and could even help prevent the growth of cancer cells.

The blooming of yellow and white chamomile flowers is a sure sign that spring is here. The best way to savour this healthy ingredient is as an herbal infusion, using dried chamomile flowers and hot water. It can also be tossed into salads.

Must-try drink: Chamomile tea

Mix dried chamomile flowers with hot water and leave to infuse. Then add a spoonful of natural honey to taste.

STRAWBERRIES

Everyone loves strawberries, but did you know that these delicious red fruits are also incredibly healthy? They are a good source of Vitamins C and B9, while also containing manganese and potassium. This means that they can help reduce the risk of heart-related illnesses, regulate blood-sugar levels, and even prevent cancer.

In season in late spring and early summer, strawberries are associated with long, sunny days. They can be used in a variety of recipes, but are best enjoyed on their own (or with a dollop of cream, if you're feeling naughty).

Must-try dish: Mixed berry fruit salad

Berries are naturally sweet and wonderfully healthy. Simply mix strawberries, blueberries and raspberries in a bowl - delicious!

RADISHES

Radishes are packed full of goodness. These deliciously peppery root vegetables have more Vitamin C than oranges, as well as magnesium, calcium, potassium and zinc. This makes them a great option for athletes, but also for anyone who wants to improve their digestion, enhance their complexion and keep their body working well.

In season in late winter and spring, radishes have a vibrant flavour that enlivens any dish. In Europe, smaller pink radishes are often used to spice up a salad, while in Asia, the daikon is a staple of Japanese and Korean dishes.

Must-try dish: Pickled radish

Pickled daikon (or chikin-mu in Korean) is zesty and refreshing - the perfect accompaniment to Korean fried chicken.
