FOREWORD

Welcome to the July 2023 edition of Travel Aggregator, WebBeds' monthly newsletter dedicated to the travel trade in Asia Pacific.

This month, we take a closer look at niche tourism – the concept of catering for the individual needs of specific groups. All across Asia Pacific, interesting and inspiring activities are available for different types of travellers, from history buffs and culture seekers to foodies, outdoor adventurers and more. Find out some of the region's best places to satisfy these unique needs.

Asia Pacific is also home to some of the world's hippest districts, which provide a great opportunity to rub shoulders with local young people and learn about the latest fashions and fads. Whether you want to shop for vintage clothes and vinyl records, or just people-watch from a cool café, we reveal the region's trendiest urban neighbourhoods.

Café culture is a key element of any modern city, but the type of coffee you drink will often depend on where you travel to. Many countries in Asia have developed their own unique brews, and we reveal the distinctive and diverse types of coffee you'll find in Asia Pacific's major cities. Finally, for guests seeking a luxurious break, we reveal some of the world's finest pool villas for your next family vacation or romantic retreat.

This month, our "Featured Hotel" is Pelangi Beach Resort on the Malaysian island of Langkawi, and "Newly-Opened" checks in to Hotel Morris Sydney - Handwritten Collection, which recently emerged from a major renovation. And of course, you can catch up with all the latest news, photos and exclusive offers from WebBeds in Asia Pacific.

MAGIC BEANS

Asia Pacific's Unique Coffee Culture

DALGONA COFFEE

South Korea

Dalgona is a sweet streetside treat that originated in Busan in the 1960s. Made by whipping up instant coffee, sugar and water, then pouring the thick mixture over ice and milk, this sweet drink became an internet craze in 2020.

LONG BLACK

Australia

For pure coffee lovers, there is nothing quite like a long black. In Australia, this is traditionally made by pouring a double shot of espresso over hot water. Using less water than a classic americano, this strong coffee is a morning favourite.

CÀ PHÊ TRỨNG (EGG COFFEE)

Vietnam

When milk was scarce in Vietnam, a man called Giang decided to use egg yolk in his coffee instead. Egg coffee was born, and it has now become a national specialty. The yolks are whipped with milk and sugar, then mixed with hot coffee.

CUSTOMISED KOPI

Singapore

For many people in Singapore, the day cannot start without a cup of kopi. Head to a traditional "kopitiam" (local coffee shop) to savour this local brew, customised to your exact preferences - hot or iced, how strong and how sweet?

KOPI LUWAK

Indonesia

This famous coffee is crafted using beans that have been digested (and excreted) by an Asian palm civet (or civet cat). This process removes the beans' fruity exterior, resulting in a better flavour. Thankfully, the beans are cleaned before being roasted.

OLIANG

Thailand

Iced coffee can be found on almost every street corner in Thailand. This traditional spiced drink is made using a pre-made oliang mix (which blends coffee with cardamom and other spices) and served with sweetened condensed milk.
